1. INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 Doordarshan started its DTH service DD Direct+ in December, 2004, which was re-named as DD Free Dish on 27th August 2013. The present capacity of DD Free Dish is 80 SD MPEG-2 TV channels and 18 SD MPEG-4 channels apart from 40 radio channels. DD Free Dish has a reach of approximately 30 million households which is 15 % of the total TV Households in the country.
- 1.2 Prasar Bharati on 07.06.2011 approved an e-auction policy for placement of private TV channels on the then DD Direct+ Platform in compliance to the direction of the Telecom Disputes Settlement and Appellate Tribunal (TDSAT) judgment dated 16.12.2010. Category wise reservation of slots with differential reserve price was introduced by Prasar Bharati in April 2017 for allocation of MPEG-2 slots of DD Free Dish to Private Broadcasters through e-Auction. Slots were further reserved in each category, i.e., News and Current Affairs & Non-News & Current Affairs as licensed by the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting.
- 1.3 Prasar Bharati has decided to review and revise the Policy Guidelines for allotment of slots of DD Free Dish to satellite TV channels.
- 1.4 Hence in supersession of all previous guidelines, the Prasar Bharati hereby notifies the following Policy Guidelines for allocation of slots of DD Free Dish to private satellite TV channels.

2. Guiding Principles for the revised policy:

- 2.1 Carriage of Private Channels on DD FreeDish will be based on e-auctions but with differential pricing based on genre (language).
- 2.2 Private satellite TV Channels desirous of placing their channels on DD Free Dish shall be allowed to bid only in e-Auctions specific to the genre (language) they belong to. For this purpose Broadcasters shall be required to declare genre and language of their channel/ (s) to Prasar Bharati while applying for e-auction bidding process to be eligible to participate in the e-auction.

- 2.3 Differential pricing for genre(language) will be based on the principle of higher Reserve Price for genre(language) with greater commercial potential.
- 2.4 To maximize revenue potential from e-Auctions and to ensure a stable portfolio of channels from a viewer standpoint, e-Auctions will be held on annual basis for all vacant slots for a period of one year.
- 2.5 Bidding in the e-Auction will be conducted in multiple rounds starting with genres with highest Reserve Price and progressing in a descending order of Reserve Price by genre(language) till all vacant unreserved MPEG2 slots are filled up.
- 2.6 The payment terms for successful bidders upon award of a slot will be revised to ensure a sustainable cash flow while lowering entry barrier across genres to encourage maximum participation of bidders in e-Auctions.
- 2.7 To promote the DD FreeDish authorised Set Top Boxes, bidding in e-Auction of vacant unreserved MPEG-4 slots will be open to all genre(language) at the same invitational Reserve Price that is irrespective of the genre(language).
- 2.8 Placement of regional channels of Doordarshan that are currently not available on DTH/Cable may be considered for placement on vacant MPEG4 slots reserved for the same.
